Exterior Cleaning

One of the primary challenges reconditioning professionals face when cleaning a vehicle's exterior is the safe and effective removal of surface contaminants. Ranging from soil and road film to tar and insect residue, these contaminants must be completely removed from painted, metal, rubber, vinyl, plastic, and glass surfaces. If not, their residue can damage the surface and may negatively affect the rest of the cleaning process.

General Purpose Cleaners and Degreasers

Formulated with premium quality surfactants, alkalis, detergents and water soluble solvents, Auto Beauty Products Company's General Purpose Cleaners and Degreasers offer reconditioning professionals many options for exterior cleaning and degreasing. All products listed are body shop-safe.

CitruSol DL	An excellent VOC compliant, all natural, biodegradable, non corrosive, non acid aerosol solvent and degreaser formulated for interior and exterior use.

Final Detail

Most reconditioning professionals know that, once the contaminants are removed and the imperfections are corrected, it's the "final detailing" that brings the vehicle to life. The application of a dressing to all rubber, vinyl and plastic surfaces intensifies gloss and provides lasting protection. The use of aerosol paint restores metal parts to their original condition. The effective cleaning of all interior and exterior glass surfaces is not only important for the vehicle's appearance, but for the driver's safety, as well.

Water-Based Dressings

Dressings shine, revitalize and protect rubber, plastic and vinyl surfaces. Water-based dressings are recommended for engines and interiors, and Auto Beauty Products Company's line features a wide variety of gloss levels and fragrances to meet any detailing need. All products listed are VOC compliant.
